INTRODUCTION

Tennessee Code Annotated section 17-4-301 et seq. charges the Trial Court Vacancy Commission with assisting the Governor and the People of Tennessee in finding and appointing the best qualified candidates for judicial offices in this State. Please consider the Commission's responsibility in answering the questions in this application questionnaire. For example, when a question asks you to "describe" certain things, please provide a description that contains relevant information about the subject of the question and, especially, that contains detailed information that demonstrates that you are qualified for the judicial office you seek. In order to properly evaluate your application, the Commission needs information about the range of your experience, the depth and breadth of your legal knowledge, and your personal traits such as integrity, fairness, and work habits.

This document is available in Microsoft Word format from the Administrative Office of the Courts (telephone 800-448-7970 or 615-741-2687; website www.tncourts.gov). The Commission requests that applicants obtain the Microsoft Word form and respond directly on the form. Respond in the box provided below each question. (The box will expand as you type in the document.) Review the separate instruction sheet prior to completing this document. Your complete application, including both the original and digital copies, must be received by the Administrative Office of the Courts on or before the deadline prescribed in the Notice of Vacancy. See section 1(g) of the application instructions for additional information related to hand-delivery of application packages.

THIS APPLICATION IS OPEN TO PUBLIC INSPECTION AFTER YOU SUBMIT IT.

5. List your professional or business employment/experience since the completion of your legal education. Also include here a description of any occupation, business, or profession other than the practice of law in which you have ever been engaged (excluding military service, which is covered by a separate question).

Attorney (member) with Schell and Oglesby, LLC – April 2012 through present

Attorney (associate) with Lowery, Lowey & Cherry, PLLC – February 2008 through April 2012

Attorney (associate) with Rochelle, McCulloch & Aulds, PLLC – February 2005 through February 2008

Police Officer and Sergeant, Metropolitan Nashville Police Department – February 1998 through February 2005

American Cellular, Inc. (sales) – April 1996 through February 1998

6. Describe the nature of your present law practice, listing the major areas of law in which you practice and the percentage each constitutes of your total practice.

I am in private practice as a member of a firm consisting of five members, one associate, and one attorney of counsel based in Franklin, Tennessee. My practice currently consists of the following areas of law:

Criminal defense: 95%

General civil litigation (personal injury, family law, business litigation, probate): 5%

7. Describe generally your experience (over your entire time as a licensed attorney) in trial courts, appellate courts, administrative bodies, legislative or regulatory bodies, other forums, and/or transactional matters.

I have enjoyed an extremely diverse practice, appearing before more than one hundred (100) judges in at least thirty-one (31) counties across this state regarding both criminal and civil matters. During my practice, I have represented many hundreds of clients in various municipal, general sessions, circuit, criminal, and chancery courts, as well as before the Court of Criminal Appeals, the Court of Appeals, the Tennessee Supreme Court, and the United States District Court for Middle Tennessee.

When I was first licensed, I was a sergeant with the Metropolitan Nashville Police Department, where I served as a patrol officer and subsequently as Law Instructor at the Metropolitan Nashville Police Department Training Academy. As a police officer in a major metropolitan area, I lived and breathed criminal law. As Law Instructor, I provided legal instruction to new recruits and existing officers in the areas of constitutional law, statutory law, criminal procedure, and legal issues involving the use of force.

When I left the police department to enter private practice in 2005, my practice initially consisted primarily of civil litigation. I represented plaintiffs and defendants in a variety of civil matters, including construction litigation, personal injury, breach of contract, condemnation of real property by public authorities, land use/zoning appeals, civil rights lawsuits (on behalf of plaintiffs and defendants), and probate matters. I have tried civil cases (jury and non-jury) in circuit and chancery courts, as well as numerous hearings and trials in general sessions courts.

I have represented clients on direct appeal (including brief and oral argument) in civil matters before the Court of Appeals, in criminal matters before the Court of Criminal Appeals, and civil and criminal matters before the Tennessee Supreme Court.

I have also represented clients before boards of zoning appeals and in disciplinary hearings/appeals before the Metropolitan Nashville Police Department Disciplinary Board, the Metropolitan Nashville Civil Service Commission, and the City of Lebanon.

As my legal career progressed, my practice shifted to criminal law. In the criminal arena, I initially prosecuted defendants during an internship with the 20th Judicial District Attorney's Office (while serving as a Metropolitan Nashville Police Officer), and later as a special prosecutor in the municipal courts of Mt. Juliet and Lebanon. Over the course of my practice as a criminal defense attorney, I have represented individuals accused of crimes ranging from a speeding ticket to first degree murder. I have argued countless motions regarding search and seizure and the admissibility of evidence and tried criminal cases (jury and non-jury) in circuit/criminal courts, as well as bench trials and countless other hearings in general sessions courts. I have represented numerous clients on direct appeal (including brief and oral argument) before the Court of Criminal Appeals involving conviction, sentencing, and post-conviction relief. I have likewise appeared before the Tennessee Supreme Court in a criminal appeal.

In addition to the areas listed above, my practice has included domestic relations law, where I represented clients in matters involving divorce, post-divorce disputes, child custody, paternity matters, grandparent visitation, orders of protection, and contempt proceedings in circuit, chancery, juvenile, and general sessions courts.

8. Describe any matters of special note involving your practice in trial courts, appellate courts, and administrative bodies.

I represented a funeral home in an appeal from a local board of zoning appeals to chancery court and ultimately to the Court of Appeals, where as a matter of first impression, the appellate court affirmed my client's position that a crematory is a lawful expansion of a funeral home's business, and permitted the funeral home to build a crematory on site. See BMC Enterprises, Inc., v. City of Mt. Juliet, 273 S.W.3d 619 (Tenn.Ct.App., 2008) perm. app. denied (Tenn. Oct. 27, 2008).

I represented a client before the Tennessee Supreme Court in the appeal of the denial of parole, in which the Tennessee Supreme Court held (in a split decision with two separate dissenting opinions) that the statute providing that a court clerk could not accept a filing from an inmate with outstanding court costs did not deny equal protection or due process. See Hughes v. Tennessee Board of Probation and Parole, 514 S.W.3d 707 (Tenn. 2017).

I represented a client before the Tennessee Supreme Court in an appeal involving the failure of an officer to provide a copy of the search warrant to the defendant at the time of the search warrant's execution. The Court affirmed that the Exclusionary Rule Reform Act was unconstitutional and expanded the good faith exception to the exclusion of evidence to include innocent technical violations of Rule 41 of the Tennessee Rules of Criminal Procedure. See State v. Daniel, 552 S.W.3d 832 (Tenn. 2018).

9. Describe any other legal experience, not stated above, that you would like to bring to the attention of the Commission.

During law school, I was employed full-time as a police officer with the Metropolitan Nashville Police Department. In this capacity, I was ultimately assigned to teach criminal and constitutional law to police recruits in the police academy (consisting of approximately 120 hours of instruction per academy session) and to all existing officers during mandatory annual training. I was certified as a Police Instructor by the Tennessee Peace Officer Standards and Training Commission in the specialized area of Criminal Law. Additionally, I conducted legal research for the members of the police department and assisted with drafting complicated search warrants and in preparing cases from the Police Department for presentation to the grand jury.

I have been listed as a Rule 31 General Civil and Family Mediator since 2019.

10. List and describe all prior occasions on which you have submitted an application for any state or federal judicial position.

On September 21, 2011, I submitted an application to the Tennessee Judicial Nominating Commission for the vacant position of Circuit Court Judge, Division III, for the 21st Judicial District. The Judicial Nomination Commission considered my application on October 20, 2011, and I was honored to have my name submitted to the Governor as a nominee.

On August 24, 2014, I submitted an application to the Governor's Commission for Judicial Appointments for the vacant position of Circuit Court Judge, Division IV, for the 21st Judicial District. The Commission for Judicial Appointments considered my application on September 30, 2014, and I was again honored to have my name submitted to the Governor as a nominee.

On October 5, 2020, I submitted an application to the Governor's Council for Judicial Appointments for the vacant position of Judge, Middle Division, for the Court of Criminal Appeals. The Council for Judicial Appointments considered my application on October 26 and 27, 2020, and I was again honored to have my name submitted to the Governor as a nominee.

On December 6, 2011, I filed a petition as candidate for Circuit Court Judge, Division III, for the Twenty-First Judicial District of Tennessee, while I and two other nominees for appointment to that judgeship were pending before the Governor for possible appointment. I withdrew my petition on December 14, 2011, when another nominee was appointed to that judgeship by the Governor.

ESSAYS/PERSONAL STATEMENTS

28. What are your reasons for seeking this position? (150 words or less)

I enjoy the intricate puzzle of constitutional, statutory, and procedural issues involved in the practice of law. A judge must engage in the cautious balancing act necessary to protect society from lawlessness while ensuring that our individual liberties are safeguarded. I enjoy considering the facts of a case, identifying the issues, and deducing how the law applies to those facts. As an attorney, my duty is to advocate for the interests of my clients. A judge is a public servant uniquely charged with the responsibility of fairly applying the laws that govern us. I want to serve as an impartial advocate not for any one position, but for justice and the rule of law. I believe that my diverse experience in both criminal and civil law will allow me to view all sides of an issue impartially and make a decision based solely upon the law.

29. Describe the judgeship you seek (i.e. geographic area, types of cases, number of judges, etc. and explain how your selection would impact the court. (150 words or less)

I seek appointment to the 21st Judicial District Circuit Court, Division III, which has jurisdiction in Williamson County. The Court is comprised of four judges who also sit as chancellor when holding Chancery Court. The Court is divided into four divisions, with each judge hearing criminal, civil, and domestic matters. It is vital to have a judge with diverse experience in both civil and criminal courtrooms, and my experience simultaneously handling criminal, civil, and domestic matters would be beneficial to this Court.

I have represented clients from every socio-economic background, and I believe that I have the ability to ensure that every party has access to justice and an equal opportunity to present their case, regardless of whether they retain a partner at a multinational firm, a small-town lawyer, or they appear pro se.

30. Will you uphold the law even if you disagree with the substance of the law (e.g., statute or rule) at issue? Give an example from your experience as a licensed attorney that supports your response to this question. (250 words or less)

Yes. The governmental checks and balances established through the three co-equal branches of government dictate that as a judge, I must uphold the law established by the legislature even if I disagree with the substance of the law. Personal feelings, disagreement, or prejudices cannot be allowed to sway a judge from applying the law as enacted by the legislature.

As a criminal defense attorney who was formerly a police officer, I have had countless occasions wherein I have forced myself to set aside personal feelings in order to fulfill my duties to my client.

As a specific example, I recall sitting as a special judge for the Municipal Court of Mt. Juliet. A gentleman who possessed a commercial driver license (CDL) was charged with speeding while off work in his personal vehicle. Under federal law, he was ineligible to attend traffic school in lieu of a conviction because he had a CDL. I personally disagreed with the substance of this law as applied to this case, as it prevented this gentleman from benefiting from a program designed to improve driver skills simply because he had a CDL. However, the law on the matter was clear, and I did my duty as a judge based upon the law without regard to my personal opinion.
