Phyllis Hildreth (Professor and Academic Director, Institute for Conflict Management) will guide a discussion of the role that mediators might play across a broad spectrum of Restorative Practices. To what degree is mediation scalable? What are the similarities and differences in the skill sets required for different types of “restorative justice”? This discussion and invitation to action is a timely one for our growing city, as both government and citizen groups increasingly seek to include Restorative Practices, including mediation, in our collective response to conflict.	General Continuing Education	12:00	1:15	1.25 hours General Continuing Education
